$9,301,000 ONLY RECEIVED FOR U. R. AT AUCTION

Minimum Sum Fixed by Federal Court Is Offered by Reorganization Committee.

WOULD SETTLE ALL UNSECURED CLAIMS

City Counselor Says City Will Object to Settlement of Mill Tax at 33 1-3 Per Cent as Offered.

The United Railways, which has been in receivership since 1919, was placed on the auction block today. The reorganization committee, headed by Frank O. Watts, president of the First National Bank, representing old security holders of the street car company, was the only bidder, offering $9,301,000, the minimum price fixed by Federal Judge Farris.

The bid will be reported to the court Aug. 12 by former Congressman William L. Igoe, the special master appointed to conduct the sale. The approval of the court will complete the sale, thus turning over the railways to the St. Louis Public Service Co., the new concern formed by the reorganizers. However, the price, $9,301,000, does not represent the actual price to be paid for the property. It is likely that the actual sum will be little more than the sum of the outstanding bonds, because of the fact that the receiver has no assets totaling $17,615,751, which he will turn over to the new company. Of these assets, $3,100,000 are in United States Government bonds.

Igoe in Charge of Sale. Special Master Igoe conducted the sale with little formality on the south front steps of the United Railways office building. Thirty-two street and park avenue. The whole procedure took 20 minutes. Promptly at 10 o'clock, Igoe began reading the Court order which directed him to hold the sale, and the terms of the auction. He announced that none by Lloyd H. Andrus and Walter D. W. H. Andrus had appeared as qualified bidders and inquired if any other person desirous of bidding was present. There was no response. Andrus and Bradley represent the reorganizers.

Before he called for bids, a lawyer representing Henry D. Laughlin of Chicago, formerly of St. Louis, read a formal notice to bidders that Laughlin would press his claim for possession of a small triangular piece of property near the intersection of the Creve Coeur line of way, which has been in litigation.

Bids Made on Parcels. Then Igoe asked for bids on various parcels of the railways property, which were given by Andrus, according to prearrangement. A bid of $3,301,000 made for all the parcels together, was accepted by a word from the special master. Besides this figure, the reorganizers are offering to assume liabilities bringing their offer up to $9,301,000. Igoe announced he would report the bid to Federal Court and the gathering dispersed. About 150 persons were present, including a number of representatives of the reorganization committee, Receiver Rolla Wells, his counsel, Charles W. Bates, and a number of United Railways officials. Also, numerous office and car employees of the company stopped to watch what was going on and passing trolley passengers turned their heads in curiosity.

Besides Watts, other St. Louis members of the reorganization committee are J. K. Neuman of New York and New Orleans, trader in bankrupt public utilities, J. Sheppard Smith, president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., and L. L. Shapleigh, president of the Shapleigh Hardware Co., a leader in Republican politics.

The reorganizers' bid included an offer of settlement of unsecured claims against the old company on the basis of 33 1-3 per cent, if cash demanded, or 66 2-3 per cent if preferred stock in the new company is accepted. The chief creditor is the City of St. Louis with a claim of approximately $3,600,000 for past due mill tax interest.

Says City Will Object. City Counselor Muench said today the city would protest against settlement of its claim at 33 1-3 per cent and would demand the full amount. Comptroller Nolte requested he was in favor of granting the new company a franchise if it would pay the mill tax in full. Federal Court must approve the offer to general creditors before the sale is completed. It also is necessary that the Missouri Public Service Commission be satisfied.

Widow to Have Principal and Income During Her Lifetime.

The estate of Benjamin F. Bush, vice president and director of the Boatmen's National Bank and former president and chairman of the board of the Missouri Pacific railroad, is left to his widow, Mrs. Catherine I. Bush, and his daughter, Mrs. Idella Frances Holmes, under the terms of his will, filed today.

Mrs. Bush is to have the principal and income of the estate, with the exception of $25,000, bequeathed outright to Mrs. Holmes. The estate is to pass to Mrs. Holmes under a trust fund to last until she is 35 years old. She is then to inherit the residue of the estate. In the event that she dies before reaching the age of 35 the income of her estate will go to her children until they are 21, at which time it will be divided among them. Should Mrs. Holmes die without issue, the estate is to pass to the heirs at law.

No estimate of the amount of the estate is available, and Boatmen's Bank officials said an inventory had not been started.

Will Made in September. The will, which is dated Sept. 25, 1926, contains provision for a trust fund for $56,000 for the benefit of eight persons, but in a codicil dated June 16 last Mr. Bush cancelled this provision. He said that his wife would provide for these beneficiaries by will at her death.

Those named in the canceled portion of the will and the bequest, later annulled, were as follows: Ellathes Carson of Waterville, Pa., $10,000; Franklin Bush, Schmitt St. Louis, $5000; Stella Denoon, River Falls, Wis., $10,000; W. P. Hastings, St. Louis, $10,000; Frances Townley Short Hills, N. J., $5000; Myrie A. Bush, St. Louis, $10,000; and Theresa Meyer, a servant in the Bush home, $1000.

Mr. Bush's funeral was held yesterday afternoon in the Second Presbyterian Church, and was conducted by the Rev. N. L. Euwer, with music by the church choir. Interment in Bellefontaine cemetery was private. The active pallbearers were Julius W. Reinhold, Joseph Gilman Miller, W. J. Edkins, Edward J. White, John G. Drew and W. V. Volmer. At 3 p. m., when the funeral began, all Missouri Pacific trains stopped for one minute, and all employees stopped work for a brief period.

Rail Heads at Funeral. Among those who visited the church, where the body was on view for an hour, were: Hale Holden, president of the Burlington Railroad; J. A. Edson, president of the Kansas City Southern; J. L. Lanoster, president of the Texas & Pacific; Fred W. Sargeant, president of the Chicago & Northwestern; Charles Nagel, Secretary of Commerce under President Taft. St. Louis bankers and business leaders generally were present in numbers. Members of the Board of Education also attended. Employees of the Missouri Pacific and Boatmen's National Bank formed an honor escort as the body was taken from the Bush residence, 5324 Waterman avenue, to the church.

A floral locomotive wheel was received from William G. McAdoo, war-time director-general of railroads. A floral piece in the shape of a geological instrument, such as used by Bush in his early railroad days on the Northern Pacific, was received from the Association of Civil Engineers.

The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce Alaskan tour party sent a telegram of condolence to Mrs. Bush from Medicine Hat, Alberta, Canada.

PARTY HOST SHOT AFTER HE ORDERS GUEST TO LEAVE

Edward V. Ginter, Called to Threshold and Fired On, Suffers Serious Wound in Abdomen.

PAIR WITH PISTOLS ARRESTED NEARBY

Victim's Wife Identifies John Conley as Ejected Guest — He and Davis Murphy Deny Attack.

A shot fired through the kitchen door of his home at 2:30 a. m. today seriously wounded Edward V. Ginter, 35 years old, an insurance agent of 1224 Parkway avenue. He is in City Hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Shots were heard by Police Lieut. Maurice Mulcahy as he was walking at Taylor and Cook avenues, and he saw two men run to a taxicab parked near that corner. He arrested the men and seized two revolvers which had been tossed into the cab. There were four discharged cartridges in one weapon, and one in the other. The men arrested said they were John Conley, 22, a clerk of 1422 Franklin street, and Davis Murphy, 26, a chauffeur of 4517W Easton avenue.

The prisoners were taken before Ginter at the hospital, but he shook his head as if he did not recognize them.

Mrs. Ginter Recognizes Pair. But Ginter's wife, Nellie, said she recognized them. She said Conley and Murphy were eating those put me out," Conley told Ginter according to Mrs. Ginter. He was belligerent, but was quieted by Murphy and departed with him.

Mrs. Ginter said that there was a knock on the kitchen door, and a man's voice called: "Open the door, you..." Ginter walked toward the door. Several shots were fired through the door and Ginter fell back, wounded.

Mrs. Ginter said it was Conley's voice that had been heard. "No, madam, it wasn't my voice," said Conley to Mrs. Ginter. "Yes, it was, you big bully," Mrs. Ginter retorted. "You can't bluff me. I'll tell the truth."

Neighbors Saw Three Men. Neighbors told of seeing three armed men enter Ginter's back yard from an alley, and of hearing shots. The neighbors said two of the men fled through the alley, and the third ran around to the front of the house, chasing Mrs. Ginter as she sought refuge in a house next door.

Police were told there had been ill-feeling between Ginter and Conley since they fought several months ago when Conley asserted someone had "double-crossed" him on a baseball bet.

Conley, according to Lieut. Mulcahy, admitted he was released from the State penitentiary at Jefferson City last Sept. 16 after serving a two-year term for shooting a saloonkeeper.

Conley and Murphy, denied any part in the shooting of Ginter, but made no further statement.

An operation was performed on Ginter. The bullet entered his right side and emerged from the left. Surgeons are doubtful of his recovery.

Mrs. Ginter was held for investigation when police found 400 bottles of beer in her basement and several empty bottles in the flat.

TRAPPER MAKES CONFESSION IN LEBEOUF MURDER CASE

Admission Comes With Request for Separate Trial; Named Slayer by Confederates.

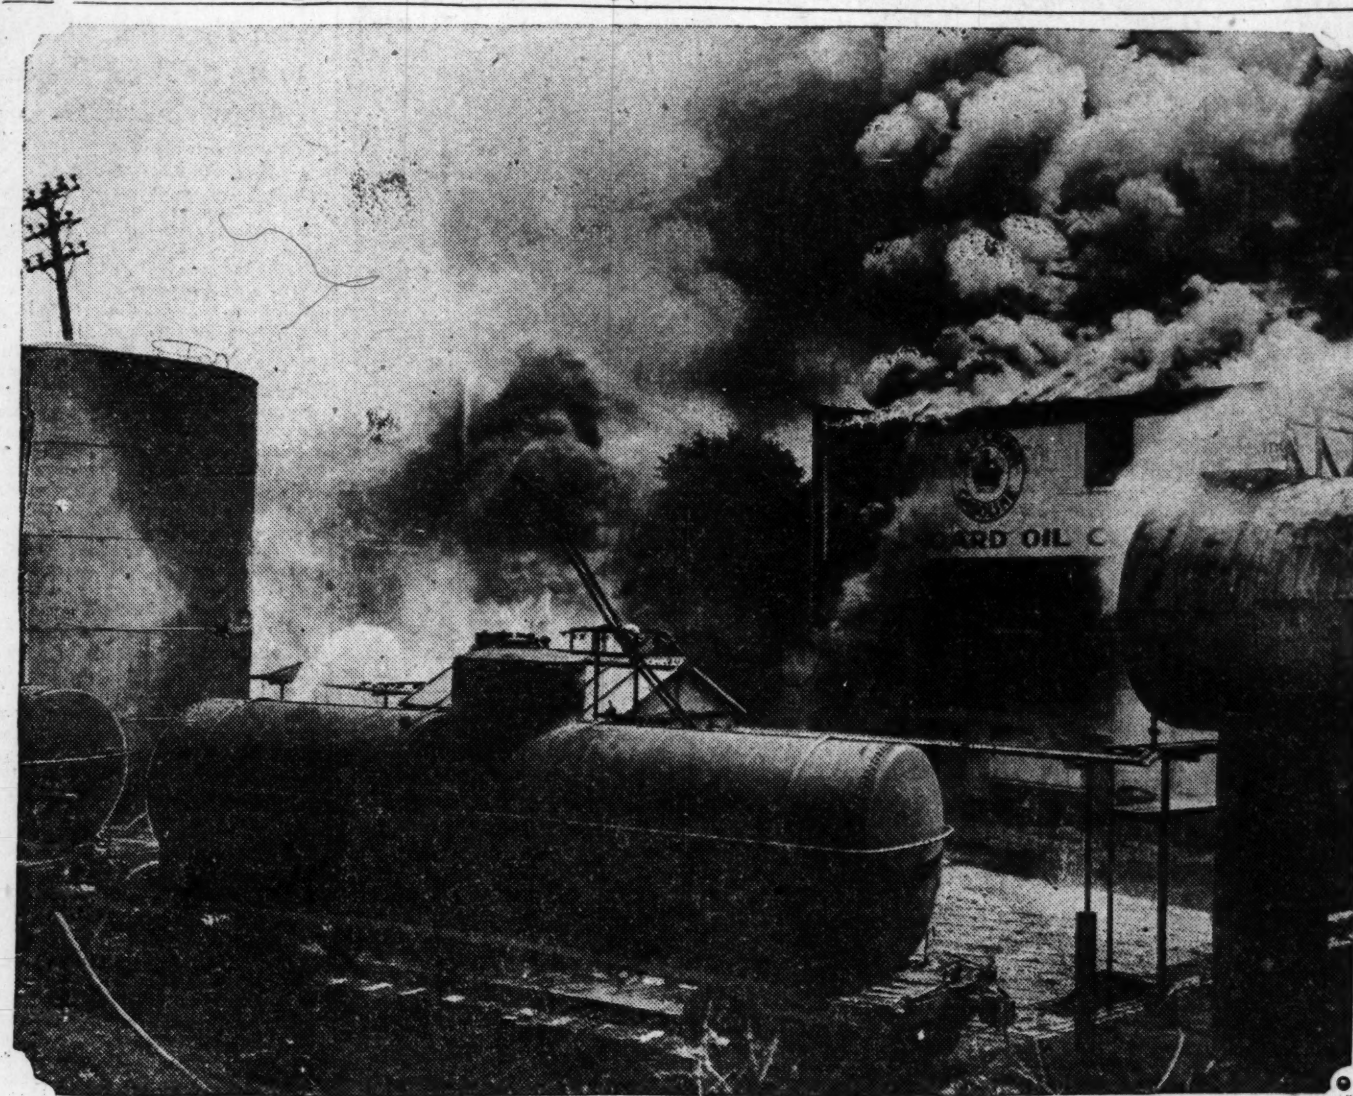

By the Associated Press. FRANKLIN, La., Aug. 1.—Sheriff Charles Peet announced today that James Beadle, one of the three defendants in the Leboeuf murder trial, made a confession to him. Sheriff Peet said Beadle admitted being present when James J. Leboeuf was shot to death. The Sheriff declined to give any more details, explaining he would be related when he took the witness stand.

Announcement of Beadle's confession followed a request by him in open court for separate counsel to represent him.

Both Mrs. Leboeuf and Dr. Dreher are alleged to have made statements accusing Beadle of firing the two shots which ended Leboeuf's life.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Seventy persons, many of them women, were thrown to the floor and 25 of them were injured so as to require medical attention, when a trolley car ran wild on a down grade and crashed into the rear of a halted car in Brooklyn today.

Spectacular $50,000 Oil Warehouse Fire in Wellston

AN UNEXPLAINED explosion during the filling of a tank wagon from a 130,000-gallon reservoir of gasoline started the flames at the Standard Oil depot at Oak Grove and Easton avenues this morning. Firemen fought to prevent the spread of the flames to stores of gasoline and oil nearby.

U. S. FLAG ON NEW COURTHOUSE FRAME

Emblem 400 Feet in Air Signals Near Completion of Steel Skeleton.

The Stars and Stripes fluttered from a pole atop the steel skeleton of the new Civil Court house 400 feet above the sidewalk today as a signal that the highest point of the steel construction had been reached.

In the parlance of the erection crew who worked in careful uncertainty on a flimsy footing of boards and girders while President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service unfurled it at 11 o'clock this morning, the flag was waving from the "top of the works."

Frame Work Nearly Done. The hoisting of the flag signified the near completion of the second stage in the construction of the $4,000,000 courts building, the erection of the skeleton.

A little over a year ago, the first stage began with the sinking of a caisson 60 feet into the ground to rock for the foundation of the structure, the highest in St. Louis. The erection of the framework began May 15.

The third and last stage will begin tomorrow. The Board of Public Service will open bids at noon on a general contract for all remaining work except actual office equipment. Contractors will have from 15 to 18 months to finish the work, so that the new court house providing twice as much space as is needed at present, probably will be complete late in 1928 or early in 1929.

The raising of the flag today was a simple ceremony. Kinsey and Mrs. George's admitted having sold the bread. The fine was stayed on payment of $3 cents.

MAN SHOT, 14 BEATEN, WHEN MINERS CLASH

200 Union Sympathizers Attack
Workers on Way to Mine at Newport, O.

By the Associated Press.
DOVER, O., Aug. 1.—One non-union miner was shot and wounded and 14 others were beaten when 200 union sympathizers attacked the non-union men on their way to the Maple Leaf coal mine at Newport, O., near here, today.

The attack occurred on a narrow road between Dover and the mine, according to W. C. Roberts, mine superintendent, who was beaten severely.

Roberts said the union sympathizers left their automobiles and began beating the non-union men with clubs and fists. John Vesco, 50, of Wainwright, was the man injured. He was brought to a hospital here with a bullet wound in his hip.

John Harder Jr., non-union miner, was charged by the attacking force with having shot Vesco. He was arrested but released later when no one appeared to prefer charges against him.

Attorneys for the Pockock Coal Co. of Massillon, owners of the mine, went into conference at New Philadelphia to start proceedings for an injunction to restrain union miners from hampering operations at the mine.

The Maple Leaf mine normally employs about 50 men and has been operating on a nonunion basis more than a month.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 1.—Suits to recover $40,541, with interest for more than three years, has been filed in Federal Court against the estate of Edwin W. Grove, multimillionaire patent medicine manufacturer of St. Louis, by W. R. Ellerson of Hot Springs, N. C.

The sum sought to be recovered was invested by Ellerson, according to his petition, in a project for the development by him and Grove of mountain real estate and the raising of livestock. Ellerson complains he was ousted last Monday by executors of the Grove estate as manager of the Grove livestock interests.

The executors, the St. Louis Union Trust Co. and Edwin W. Grove Jr., are named defendants.

BOY DROWNED TRYING TO RESCUE COMPANION

J. D. Brantley, 17, Loses Life in Slough Near St.
Charles.

While trying to save a companion from drowning, J. D. Brantley, 17 years old, was drowned in a slough beside Boulder Island, in the Mississippi River, eight miles north of St. Charles, yesterday afternoon.

The youth had gone to the river with five girls and four young men for a "beach party" that was to extend through a portion of the evening. The group went swimming at 4:30 p. m. when one of the young men swimming out to deep water, suddenly called for a boat to be brought for him.

Observing his companion in distress, Brantley did not wait for a boat to be manned, but swam rapidly to the youth's side. As Brantley reached the other youth, he called for aid for himself and sank, while the other youth managed to remain afloat. The young man Brantley went to save was taken into a boat which by then had reached them, but Brantley did not reappear.

Richard Cleary and his brother, Martin, who live nearby, dragged the water with hooks and recovered his body two hours later. The body is at a mortuary in St. Charles.

The youth's death is the third tragedy in his immediate family, of which he was the sole survivor. His father, a railroad fireman, was killed several years ago in a train collision and his mother died a year ago of injuries suffered in an automobile accident. The youth had been living with relatives at Kennett, Mo. He will be buried beside the graves of his parents at Hayti, Mo. Wednesday.

Kenneth Roper, 21, Drowned in Meramec River.

Kenneth Roper, 21 years old, of 665 Clark avenue, Webster Groves, was drowned at 8 a. m. today when swimming across the Meramec River at Lincoln Beach, Valley Park.

He rented a canoe from Harry J. Arnold at Valley Park at 7:30 a. m. and paddled three miles upstream when he beached his canoe and started to swim across the river. Some canoeists nearby noticed he was in difficulty and went to his assistance, arriving too late to be of help. It is thought he was seized with cramps. Search is being made for the body.

SILENT HOME BLOCKS PROGRESS IN NEW YORK

Reputed Offer of $500,000
Rejected by Three Sisters for Fifth Avenue Residence.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Fifth avenue in its march of progress once again has stubbed its toe against the forbidding garden wall of the silent old Wendel residence at Thirty-ninth street.

A reputed offer of $500,000 for the four-story brick building, belonging to three elderly sisters whose combined wealth is estimated at close to $100,000,000, has been rejected, as have been many offers in the past.

Refusal to sell is attributed to an eccentric brother, John G. Wendel, in whose old-fashioned office there still hangs a sign, "No Property for Sale," which he posted as a warning to visiting relatives prior to his death in 1915.

The house has a walled-in yard which, unlike most New York yards, lies in front rather than back of the building. There Miss Ella Wendel, the only sister still able to be about, takes walks after midnight, there the laundry is hung out to dry, and there her small dog is exercised.

Within the house there is no electric light, telephone, dumb waiter or other modern convenience. No newspapers or magazines are delivered there. None of the sisters is said to have ever ridden in an automobile, an elevator or to have used a telephone.

Miss Ella's two sisters are Mrs. Luther A. Swope and Miss Georgina Wendel. Mrs. Swope is blind and lives on a large estate in Quogue, Long Island, where she has not been seen even by some of her own employees in 20 years. Miss Georgina, now 77, has for years been an inmate of the Bloomingdale Sanitarium near White Plains, N. Y.

An ancestor of the sisters was a fur-trading contemporary of John Jacob Astor and laid the foundation of the Wendel fortune. Their real estate holdings in New York are said to be second only to that of the Astor estate.

JOHN P. LEAHY HELD UP WITH WIFE AND DAUGHTER

Robber Demands Mrs. Dorritt Oakley's Rings, But She Screams and He Runs.

As John P. Leahy, of 5851 Waterman boulevard, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Mrs. Dorritt Oakley, neared home Saturday evening, a young man, wearing a mask and pointing a revolver, stepped in front of them. Seized by Mrs. Oakley's rings, the highwayman demanded them. When Mrs. Oakley refused, he grasped her arm tightly. Mrs. Oakley, joined by her mother, screamed to attract attention.

Leahy ran into Waterman boulevard and shouted for a passing motorist to stop. The motorist added to the din by honking his horn and the highwayman ran through a nearby vacant lot, escaping without taking anything.

TWO PLANES FAIL TO GET WOMAN TO DYING PARENTS

Hurt in Crash After Start
From Hinsdale, Ill., Arrives With Husband in New Orleans Too Late.

By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 1.—After using two airplanes and an automobile Mr. and Mrs. George T. Burrell of Hinsdale, Ill., 18 miles from Chicago, arrived here last evening too late to see Mrs. Burrell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Haughton, before they died. The Haughtons were fatally burned by an explosion of gasoline on a yacht Saturday afternoon.

On the journey to the bedside of her parents Mrs. Burrell escaped serious injury Saturday night when the plane was wrecked in a forced landing near Lemont, Ill.

Mrs. Burrell was cut and bruised in the accident. She and her husband went to St. Louis by automobile where they chartered another plane for the rest of the journey.

Delay of Three Hours for Fuel
Made Passengers Arrive
Too Late.

Both airplanes chartered by Mr. and Mrs. Burrell belonged to "A" Robertson Aircraft Corporation, operators of the St. Louis-Chicago air-mail route. Frank H. Robertson, vice president of the company, said the forced landing, near Lemont, Ill., was due to an attempt of Lieut. Knopp the pilot to save time Saturday night by taking a short cut away from the lighted and familiar mail route. Damage to this plane will not exceed $250.

The failure of Mr. and Mrs. Burrell to reach the bedside of Mrs. Burrell's parents before their death was due to a 3-hour wait for fuel at Jackson, Miss., according to a telephone report received by the Robertson Co. from Harlan Guernsey, pilot of the second plane.

The plane, a D-14, used in the air mail service, took off at Lambert Field at 8 a. m. yesterday. A stop was made at Memphis and a second at Jackson, where, as Guernsey reported, it required three hours to obtain fuel and get the plane into the air again. The party arrived at New Orleans at 6:45 p. m. and when Mr. and Mrs. Burrell reached the hospital they were told Mrs. Burrell's parents had died a few minutes previously.

Death was due to a heart attack brought on, physicians said, by exhaustion incidental to his advanced age.

Young, who was about 25 years old, was killed when an automobile driven by Joseph Vodalon of Madison, Ill., ran up on the sidewalk in front of 2020 Edwardsville road, Madison, yesterday afternoon, striking him at a high rate of speed. Vodalon ran into a telephone pole, breaking it off, and crashed on through a fence into the yard of a house at the Edwardsville road address.

Thelma Visson, 6 years old, who also was on the sidewalk, was struck by the machine after it had hit Young. She suffered slight injuries. Young's skull was fractured and he was internally injured.

Eight men and women were in Vodalon's machine with him. Vodalon was the only one of them injured. He was cut and bruised slightly. Vodalon is being held by Madison police, pending an inquest into Young's death.

Virginia Ogden was instantly killed Saturday night on the Lebanon highway, near her home, by a truck driven by A. J. Keck of Lebanon. Witnesses said Virginia had been on the road suddenly and that the accident was unavoidable. Keck was not held.

YOUNG MAN AND

BORAH TO DEMAND RECALL OF TROOPS FROM NICARAGUA

Senate Foreign Relations Committee to Resume Hearings at Earliest Possible Moment.

TO RAISE QUESTION
IN NEXT CONGRESS

Plan Resolution to Withdraw All Marines, Then Send Some Back to Supervise Coming Election

By CHARLES MICHELSON.
A Staff Correspondent at the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—A demand for the return of the United States Marines in Nicaragua to their home bases is to be made as soon as possible after Congress convenes. Senator Borah's Foreign Relations Committee, which was prevented from conducting hearings during the recess, is to resume its hearings at the earliest possible moment. It will call for all the Army and Navy reports on the Ocotol fight as well as the State Department's instructions which the Marines were carrying out. Likewise, there will be produced all available data from the other side.

The idea, so far as it is formulated, is to get before Congress a resolution to recall the Marines but providing for some Marines to be sent back to supervise the election next year, thus redeeming our promise to see to it that the next election should be fairly conducted.

Progressives Not Satisfied.
Progressive Republicans refuse to be satisfied with the statements of the administration that all the Marines were doing. Ocotol was to protect American lives and property. The small number of Marines—35—sent to cope with 1000 armed rebels, gives the impression that the detachment was intended to provoke an attack and give the airplanes the opportunity, which they improved with the slaughter of 300 Nicaraguans, that when the United States ordered Gen. Sandino's Nicaraguans to disarm and they refused wholesale death was the penalty. Since Ocotol there have been frequent reports of other clashes with Sandino's men, usually with no casualties on the American side, but a list of dead and wounded among the Nicaraguans, and usually the reports mention that the airplanes got into action. For example: It is reported that the Marines have driven Sandino's forces from the village of San Fernando, 18 miles south of Ocotol. The question is being asked why the Marines are chasing Sandino's men.

The State Department's answer is that Sandino is not a political rebel, that he is denounced alike by Nicaraguans Conservatives and Liberals, and is merely an outlaw, who is raiding the country, looting and holding foreigners and natives for ransom.

The Business of the U. S.
The contention is that if Sandino is an outlaw, he is Nicaragua's outlaw and that the United States has no mandate to chase outlaws in foreign lands. The American undertaking to protect President Adolfo Diaz against a revolution, followed by the Simson process of disarming both sides, preparatory to American supervision of the next Nicaraguan election, has resulted in the United States taking over the whole duty of policing Nicaragua.

It was to avoid what has since happened that Senator Borah introduced his resolution in the Senate providing for the Foreign Relations Committee's remaining in session over the summer. Originally he asked that it be authorized to proceed to Nicaragua and hold hearings there, but action was prevented by the filibuster engineered by Senators David A. Reed of Pennsylvania and George Moses of New Hampshire. The Democrats and anti-administration Republicans say that if the Borah committee had been allowed to function there never would have been an Ocotol.

A series of meetings to continue for two weeks, will begin at St. Louis Gospel Center, 4000 Washington boulevard tomorrow evening, when the Rev. Vincent J. Steffan, president of a prison welfare association which bears his name, will preach.

The Rev. Mr. Steffan will address meetings each evening this week and next week, with the exceptions of next Monday and each Saturday. He spent 12 years in prisons and was converted while a prisoner in a California penitentiary. Because of this, the Rev. Mr. Steffan has paid particular attention to the progress of welfare work among prisoners.

Sticking to Facts

TIME was, when people believed that there were giants as tall as trees—magic carpets that would transport their possessor a thousand miles in a twinkling—mystic charms that could make any wish come true.

Those were the days of childlike faith—the more miraculous the tale, the more eagerly it was believed.

But people are less credulous nowadays. An advertisement of “$100 values for $49.50” is likely to be doubted by most readers, even though it be true.

We believe that the best advertising is that which avoids even the remotest appearance of exaggeration—telling the simple facts, and leaving the customer to judge “value” for himself. Hence, we do not use “comparative prices” in our advertising.

CITIZEN SOLDIERS GET PRIZES FOR ATHLETICS

Company B is Outstanding Winner in Events at Jefferson Barracks.

Prizes for military and athletic efficiency were awarded winning companies of the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Jefferson Barracks this morning in the first of a series of closing exercises prior to the breaking of camp next Friday.

The outstanding athletic winner is Company B, which received three silver trophies for victories in baseball, track and general athletics efficiency. Company D received the trophy for basketball, and Company F won the playground ball cup. The trophies for military efficiency were awarded Company A of the First Battalion and Company E of the Second Battalion. The trophies were donated by St. Louis patriotic and civic organizations.

The presentation ceremony took place on the Barracks baseball diamond, with the assembled students seated in the grandstand. Addresses were made by Col. Moor N. F. H. commander of the Barracks, who presented the prizes, Carl F. G. Meyer representing the Chamber of Commerce, and two students, Jack Agee of Company B and C. E. Miller of Company D. More than 10 cups and medals will be awarded individual winners in athletics, probably on Wednesday, when Gen. Charles F. Summerall, chief of staff of the army, will inspect the camp.

Individual winners include James H. McGuire, Company E, of Texas, who made the best record with the rifle, scoring 95 points out of a possible 100. Second place with the rifle was taken by Andrew J. Clingon, Company C, of Little River, Ark., who scored 84 points. McGuire and Clingon, along with three other students making expert marks with the rifle, will be sent to Camp Perry, Ohio, early in September to participate in the national rifle tournament.

Tomorrow night the students will receive a taste of the life of a soldier in the field, spending the night in “pup” tents in an isolated section of the Barracks reservation. After breaking camp Wednesday morning, seven companies will carry out a strategic maneuver on the return hike to the Barracks under the eyes of Gen. Summerall and other inspecting officers.

ST. LOUIS MILITIAMEN BEGIN TRAINING AT CAMP CLARK

138th Infantry Quarters with 140th—Annual Outing to Last Two Weeks.
NEVADA, Mo., Aug. 1.—The 2500 members of the 138th Infantry, St. Louis National Guard Regiment, and of the 140th Infantry from Southeast Missouri, stood reveille at Camp Clark at 6:45 a. m. today, opening the first day's training of the annual two weeks' encampment.

The troops arrived at Camp Clark on special trains early yesterday and spent the day getting settled. The daily program includes drill and rifle practice in the morning and athletics and officers and non-commissioned officers' school in the afternoon. Record firing on the rifle and machine gun ranges will begin late this week.

Prizes for expertise in marksmanship and athletics, which will include a boxing and wrestling tournament, will be awarded at the end of camp. The training is being directed by Gen. W. A. Raupp, commanding Missouri National Guard troops.

MINISTER FINDS ANSWERING TELEPHONE GOOD DISCIPLINE

Dr. Edgar Y. Mullins of Louisville, Preaches on Advantages of Christian Growth.
Often, upon receipt of numerous calls, the Rev. Dr. Edgar Y. Mullins, president of Louisville Theological Seminary and of the World Baptist Alliance, has looked upon the telephone as a device of the devil, he said in a sermon at Third Baptist Church yesterday. But then, on consideration, he has overlooked the annoyance of answering and concluded that the instrument is a gift of God, not only for his boon to mankind, but for the way it develops Christian patience.

He regards telephone interruptions now as a means of grace, he related. Once he was called 14 times while in his study and thought of advocating a law to forbid phoning a preacher preparing a sermon.

Continuing, Dr. Mullins praised renunciation and limitation as means of Christian growth and said that a life of discipline was a life of power. He told how new responsibilities make better Christians.

DENY SACRAMENTS TO SLEEVELESS WOMEN

Catholic Bishop of Belleville Denies Ballroom Dresses at Communion Rail.

Belleville pastors in the Belleville diocese were directed to refuse the sacraments of communion, marriage and baptism to women attending ballroom dances in sleeveless, low-necked or otherwise improper dress. Bishop Henry Althoff read the decree at a mass in the diocese yesterday.

A ballroom gown is certainly out of place in church, especially at the communion rail," said the bishop.

As a result of the decree "the present-day immodest fashions" was an outstanding topic of discussion in pulpits of the diocese yesterday.

Bishop Althoff, who presided at the recent retreat for his priests at St. Kenrick Seminary, St. Louis County.

The interest shown in his communion moved him to draft his decree, as follows:

"It is known to you that our Holy Father, Pope Pius XI, has repeatedly, in his addresses to Catholic women's organizations, exhorted the present-day immodest fashions, and has on those occasions very earnestly reminded Catholic women of their duty to observe strictly the standards of Christian modesty in dress.

"It is to be regretted that, notwithstanding these admonitions of the Holy Father and those of their pastors, our Catholic women persist in wearing improper dress and enter the house of God thus adorned.

"And it is necessary, therefore, to direct the reverend pastors to instruct their people not to be slaves of human respect in this matter of dress and to come to church properly clad. A ballroom gown is certainly out of place in church, especially at the communion rail.

Sacraments to Be Denied.
"For the future, all women and girls who come to the communion rail in sleeveless, low-necked or otherwise improper dress, shall be refused holy communion. The same rule holds with regard to marriage and the other sacraments.

"This ruling is not intended to discourage the reception of holy communion, but is made with a view to safeguard the reverence and love of our Eucharistic Lord, dwelling in the tabernacles of our churches, and to remove, as much as possible, the danger of scandal arising from present-day fashions."

Two student flyers hurt in crash at Lambert field.
Richard Itkin, 25, suffers internal injuries; Frank Kish, 21, has fractured leg.
Two student aviators were seriously injured at 7:30 o'clock last night when the engine of an oblique plane cut out at an altitude of 100 feet and the plane crashed down nose first, half a mile east of Lambert-St. Louis field.

Richard Itkin, 25 years old, of Denver, Colo., pilot of the plane, suffered internal injuries and a fractured nose. His passenger, Frank Kish, 21, of McKeesport, Pa., suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and a fractured arm. They were taken to Overland Hospital, where they are expected to recover.

The plane, a Standard, is owned by a resident of Highland, Ill. The owner employed the students, who had been receiving flying instruction at Lambert field for the last three weeks, to fly it to the field for repairs. They made the trip successfully yesterday afternoon and were taking off on an after-noon pleasure flight when they crashed. The plane was wrecked beyond repair.

PAYROLL CHECK THEFT SOLVED AFTER 4 YEARS

Former Employee of Carpet Company Admits Cashing 15 of $40 Each.

The theft four years ago of 50 payroll checks from the Trotter-Duncker Carpet Co., Twelfth boulevard and Locust street, was solved yesterday when the man who stole them, after biding his time four years, was captured after cashing a check for $40.

Joseph Foley, 42 years old, a wagon helper of 2001 North Fifteenth street, who in 1923 was employed by Trotter-Duncker, admitted following his arrest yesterday that he had stolen the checks. He said he had waited until recently to cash them and had cashed 15. City Detective Finan recovered the other 35 from a hiding place in Foley's basement.

Police were told by Foley that he had taken the checks from a desk in the Trotter-Duncker warehouse at Third and Spruce streets. He hid them in his home against the day when he should be out of work and hard up, he said. Recently he needed money and began cashing the checks by changing the dates and filling in bogus signatures of Trotter-Duncker officials.

He gave himself away when he went to the Biederman Furniture Co., 805 Franklin avenue, where he was known and tendered a check for $40 in payment for $6 worth of linoleum. He collected $34 cash in change and when the bank notified the Biederman store that payment on the check had been stopped officers of the firm complained to police.

Other firms reporting themselves as victims of Foley's checks were the Gausmann-Parker Housefurnishing Co., 3208 North Broadway, which gave him change for a $40 check tendered in payment for $5.25 worth of window shades; and the Dau Furniture Co., 2021 Cass avenue, where Foley paid $5 down on a $15 rug with a check for $40 and collected $35 change.

Foley is married and has an invalid child. He said his wife knew nothing of his theft.

FOUR CONVICTS DIE AFTER DRINKING ORG

Eight Others in Oklahoma Prison Seriously Ill From Wood-Alcohol Poisoning.

By the Associated Press.
McALESTER, Ok., Aug. 1.—A small amount of wood alcohol taken late Saturday from the prison workshop today had resulted in the deaths of four convicts and the serious illness of eight others in the State Penitentiary here. Eugene Wade, serving ten years for robbery, died today, bringing the death list to four. Early yesterday morning guards heard cries of distress from a cell and upon investigation found two men apparently dying. Additional cases of illness soon were discovered. Prison physicians feared that total blindness would result in several cases. After hours of questioning, convicts today said that the poisoned liquor had been taken from the prison workshop. A check of the stock revealed only a small amount of the liquid missing.

EASY

No wringer... can't catch fingers... No broken buttons... saves sewing... No deep wrinkles... saves ironing... No water to empty... saves your back... Washes by famous Easy Vacuum Cup System... Dampdries by marvelous new drying tub... Empties water by centrifugal pump... Leaves clothes evenly damp... no water dripping from hems... You still hang garments in sun and air... By washing and drying at once, cuts time in half... Washing capacity adjustable... Will even wash and dry feather pillows... Gas heater keeps water hot... no belt to break... self oiling... automatic switch protects fuses... Lasts for years.

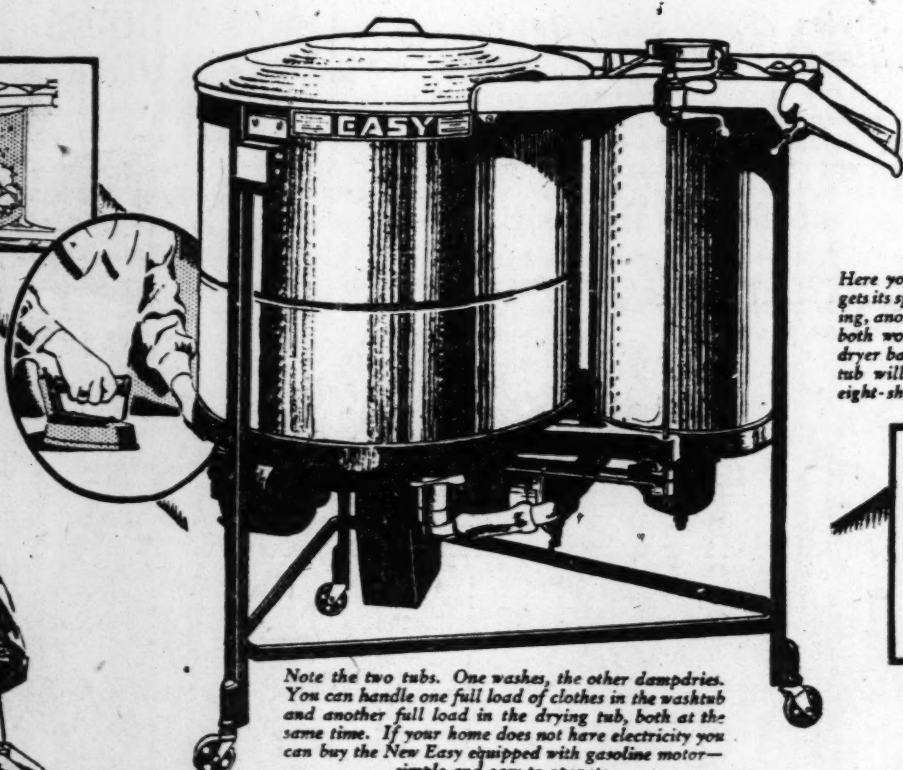

The Easy's Vacuum Cup draws soap and water through the fabric by suction.

Here the cups are gently flushing the soap and water back through the fabric by air pressure, 60 times each minute.

THE COST?
Not expensive

YOU have dirty clothes as long as you live, but you pay for an Easy only once. It's a permanent investment. Even if you are now doing your own washing you are paying out a tremendous price in time, strength, health and happiness. The Easy costs only a little more than old-fashioned washers.

Note the two tubs. One washes, the other dampdries. You can handle one full load of clothes in the wash tub and another full load in the drying tub, both at the same time. If your home does not have electricity you can buy the New Easy equipped with gasoline motor—simple and easy to operate.

Here you can see how the Easy gets its speed. Outrigger mechanism, another for drying, and both work at once. The dryer basket in the small tub will hold a full eight-sheet load.

MOTHER WANTS 50-50 OUT OF MRS. M'PHERS

Evangelist Says She Is Willing to Discuss Terms With Mrs. Kennedy.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 1.—The principal cause of trouble between Almeda Sample McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, was unmasked today as the warring leaders of an evangelist vied for the willing cooperation of more and more women in the city. Mrs. Kennedy, who is the mother of the property, has accumulated since her marriage a large real estate empire. The temple often is referred to as a million-dollar concern. Plans for the conference announced last night after the conference, who recently was removed as business manager of the church, had declared she would have no settlement except a division of the financial empire of the institution. The evangelist then declared her willingness to meet Mrs. Kennedy in an effort to settle the feud which has troubled the temple. Neither the big Temple nor the evangelist's magnificent structure which houses the Bible school involved in Mrs. Kennedy's lawsuit. She listed, however, as part of the fortune which she would insist on her daughter's share property surrounding the temple. This property, she said, was worth $45,000 worth purchased last year.

MOTHER WANTS 50-50 SPLIT OF MRS. McPHERSON

Wife Says She Is Willing To Discuss Terms With Mrs. Kennedy.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1.—The principal cause of trouble between Almee Sample McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, was unmasked today as the two warring leaders of Angelus vied their willingness to discuss the woman's demands for a "50-50" split of the property which they have accumulated since their marriage. The case is referred to as the "million-dollar concern."

Plans for the conference were announced last night after Mrs. Kennedy, who recently was ordered by the court to leave the McPherson home, had declared she would accept no settlement except an equal division of the financial resources of the institution. The evening session then declared her willingness to meet Mrs. Kennedy in an effort to settle the feud which had rocked the family.

Neither the big Temple nor the adjoining magazine structure which houses the Bible school, are involved in Mrs. Kennedy's settlement terms. She listed, however, as part of the fortune which she would insist on her daughter dividing, property surrounding the Temple. This property, she said, including $45,000 worth purchased in 1925.

The plan would carry a receiving apparatus to pick up radio waves thus broadcast, and these waves would light a small bulb on the instrument board.

Since the waves travel in but one direction, he said, the light would dim and go out should the aviator stray from his course.

EMIL KANT DIES IN PANAMA AFTER BEING EXILED 40 YEARS

Relative of German Philosopher
Eluded World-Wide Search After Flight From Dorpat.

PANAMA, Aug. 1.—Emil C. Kant, great-grand nephew of Immanuel Kant, the German philosopher, for whom a world-wide search was conducted for many years by the Kantian Society of Koenigsberg, Germany, was buried on Isthmian soil July 30. He had been in exile from his fatherland for 40 years.

When studying medicine at Dorpat University Emil Kant was conscripted into the army. He deserted after a fight with the commanding officer and fled to Africa, later passing through the United States on the way to Costa Rica. Subsequently he came to Panama, where he married.

Soon after he fled from Germany the Koenigsberg Kantian Society began its extensive search to locate him, but was unsuccessful. His whereabouts became known only recently when a newspaper here published notice of his illness. Kantian Society documents identifying him reached the Consul soon afterwards.

He died in the Ancon Hospital of heart disease and is survived by three sons and five daughters.

ONE-WAY RADIO WAVE GUIDE FOR AIRPLANE DEVELOPED

Machine Lights to Be Operated by Means of Series of Vertical Antennae.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—Development of a device to keep an aviator on his course in spite of fog or other adverse weather conditions has been announced by C. Francis Jenkins, Washington inventor. He said the apparatus would make use of radio waves broadcast from vertical antennae to be placed at 25-mile intervals along a prospective course. Vertical antennae, he explained, would send out waves in but one direction and this would be the course laid out for the aviator.

The plane would carry a receiving apparatus to pick up radio waves thus broadcast, and these waves would light a small bulb on the instrument board.

Since the waves travel in but one direction, he said, the light would dim and go out should the aviator stray from his course.

LANDLADY'S SON SOUGHT FOR SHOOTING ROOMER
Fired to Quiet Disturber Who Had Been Drinking, Police Are Told.
Samuel White, 22 years old, was shot at 1 a. m. yesterday at the home of Mrs. Sophie Kotyk, 1213 North Tenth street, where he has a room. Police are seeking Mrs. Kotyk's son, Charles, 21 years old. SACCO-VANZETTI BACKERS DISPERSED
New York Police Make Two Arrests and Stop Demonstration After Protest Meeting.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—An impromptu demonstration yesterday by Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers at City Hall Plaza following a mass meeting in Union Square, broke up after police arrested two men, charged with causing a crowd to collect and creating a disturbance. A score of speakers addressed the meeting in Union Square, at which resolutions were adopted calling on Gov. Fuller of Massachusetts to pardon Sacco and Vanzetti. Several of the speakers assailed the Governor for his secret investigation of the case. At the close of the Union Square meeting a large number paraded down Broadway to the City Hall, where several leaders climbed the steps and called for a demonstration. Ordered to leave the steps, they refused, and the arrests followed. Vanzetti Abandons Hunger Strike. Sacco Still Refuses Food.
By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Aug. 1.—Entering the week in which his fate is expected to be decided, Bartolomeo Vanzetti, convicted with Nicola Sacco of murder, today appeared to have abandoned the hunger strike which both had carried on for two weeks. Vanzetti accepted milk, coffee and bread served him for breakfast at the state prison today. Yesterday he not only ate a portion of the regular meals but asked for bread for supper, which is usually omitted on Sunday nights. Sacco this morning continued to refuse all food. Gov. Fuller today prepared to hear the last few witnesses in his long investigation of the case. It is expected to be concluded Wednesday with an announcement of what action, if any, he may take to save the two men from scheduled electrocution the week of Aug. 10.

Gov. Fuller worked steadily Sunday on the case except for a brief interval when he visited his 11-year-old son, Alvan Jr., at the Massachusetts General Hospital. The boy was operated upon Saturday for appendicitis and has since been showing steady improvement.

A crowd of 2000 persons braved a downpour yesterday to listen to speakers on Boston common pleads for the condemned men. There were no disorders.

Days with good parts and hands resting on a bench, while slowly counting to one. Next bend the elbows, draw the body straight, and draw which raise it again. Do this to do this exercise more three or four times at first, gradually increasing the number of times until you can raise and lower the body twenty times.

Done daily, it may be several weeks before any noticeable results are seen, but once improvement is discerned, it is then a short time until all the benefits are filled out.

Hints for Travelers.
A safe way to carry medicine, ink and other liquids in travel is to cork the bottle rather than by then dip the top in paraffin.

If you are traveling in an automobile or the bus you will find wearing of sun glasses will not only protect your eyes but also prevent a headache.

Coat hangers make burdensome luggage. Substitute newspaper hangers. Roll your papers and by then tie them in center of the hanger with a string. Then hang it up and you will have a serviceable hanger.

For sports wear, you cannot wear the knit sweater suit, but rather the knit sweater suit.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Moores Marshall

Single-Blessedness Vs. Double-Cursedness

"I myself would rather have been unhappily married than never married at all."—Margot Asquith.

HERE'S just one group of women who can say a thing like that and think they mean it.

They are the world's happy wives and ever some of them have too much sense to agree with Margot.

That no bread is better than half a loaf.
That hell is preferable to purgatory.
That an unhappy marriage is a sadder fate than no marriage at all.

It may have been true once—in the generation when the "old maid" was the world's doormat, and she must work her head off in some other woman's home, for a mere living and every one's contempt.

When only in marriage could a woman find either material comfort or the respect of society. Perhaps, to achieve these ends, a husband was better than no husband.

No matter how wretched he made his wife.
But women today have changed all that.

Many of us are sufficiently realistic to believe that happy marriage is woman's happiest lot.

But we know, from observation, that unhappy marriage brings infinitely greater tragedy into the modern woman's life.

That a daughter does not become a wife.
The nevertheless can live a useful, interesting, comfortable existence, with a job that pays.

With pretty clothes, books, matinee, concerts, travel and the other pleasant things which an efficient spinster's salary may bring her.

With peace and friends and even an adopted child.
To give and receive her affection. With the chance to provide for her old age and to attain greater ambitions.

Oh, we all know happy, intelligent, well-poised, unmarried women.
It's nonsense to call them abnormal.

Or to pity them too much.
The persons they are and the lives they live prove them anything but freaks and failures.

And this is the important thing—If they're never known unhappy marriages.
They can still keep their dreams of love and the lover—Dreams that have been murdered for the suffering wife.

That is why unhappy marriage seems to us the worst thing that can happen.
To a woman with ideals—Such a marriage is a spoil not only her outer but her inner life.

The woman who never weds may look a bit wistful, at the happy wife and mother.
But how often she thanks her stars that she is not as the wretched wife is.

And how often the latter longs for the untroubled serenity of single-blessedness which Margot Asquith, neither of these women would agree with Margot Asquith.

As we said, it's only the wife so happy.
That she cannot visualize or realize what other wives may endure.

Who will try to maintain that a bad marriage is better than none.
That its disillusionment, shame, agony.

Are a fate preferable to the even tenor of the successfully single woman's way—
Something less than the best life can offer a woman.

But something infinitely more than the worst.
Heavens, if even the girl "crazy to get married."

Dreams that any marriage—just ANY dreadful, miserable marriage—is better than none.
I hear her use her eyes and imagination.

And waked up.
Margot Asquith has both imagination and eyes—
So really, Margot, we're surprised at you!

If You See It in the Sun, Etc.
A new fabric for sports dresses is advertised as allowing the ultra-violet rays of the sun to penetrate to the wearer's skin. This makes a perfect airtight penetration; everything except ultra-violet rays—and especially including interest in glances—has already gone through fabrics being worn.

It's a Hard Prospect for the He-man.
Men in China, according to a cable report, have organized to fight family domination by aggressive females. Woman is the only person considered in the American home, according to the Marconi of Queensberry. East or west, home's best—for the woman of it!

THESE TWO GIRLS HAVE HIKEED 15,000 MILES

Julia and Olive Jones Had $20 Between Them When They Started for California and When They Returned a Year Later They Had $50.

By A. B. HENDRY.

WHEN Julia Jones and her sister, Olive, started out to celebrate a holiday by hiking to their home in Cape Girardeau, Mo., from St. Louis a year ago, Julia on the way over Loughborough avenue to highway 61, which they intended traveling, suddenly stopped and said:

"Say, Ol, what's the use of hiking down there. We know all about the Cape and everything there. Let's hike to California, instead."

"Alright, let's," responded Olive with the innocence of youth—and California bound it was, with $20 between them for expense money. Before the pair returned last July 4, a year to the day from the time of their departure, they had traveled about 15,000 miles—California, Canada, the Philippines and had returned with $50 between them.

Tourists Are Kmd.
Now Olive and Julia are working as waitresses in an Olive street restaurant and are saving up to start out soon on another hike to the Pacific Coast, where they expect to obtain work on an Australian-bound steamer, for which they have applications filed now. They explained they do not prefer working as waitresses above everything else, but it is the best paying temporary work they can get and the hours are not long, leaving them time to plan and talk about trips they intend making to every part of the world before they are quite ready to settle down.

"We call our trips 'hikes,' but as a matter of fact we do very little walking," Olive said, in telling of their experiences. "Tourists very often offer to us their autos. As a matter of fact, on our way to the coast, we had a hard time dissuading tourists from insisting upon our riding at times when we wanted to walk. One of these occasions was when we were going through Yellowstone Park. We really wanted to walk and see things more closely than is possible when driving through, but tourists insist upon us riding."

"We finally would get them talked out of it and usually the wife—most often a comfortable, nice old lady—would shake her head sadly and exclaim 'Poor things!' But we thought if there was a 'poor thing' around, she was it for we were out doing what we wanted to do and having a good time doing it—while in most instances it was rather apparent that she was not having nearly the fun we were."

Jocko Is Their Mascot.
The Jones sisters remained in the Philippines several days, until the steamer on which they had worked their way made its return voyage. While there, some Americans they came to know taught them to make traps to catch monkeys by boring a small hole into a coconut, securing as much of the meat as possible from the inside and placing inside some tidbit which the monkeys liked, as bait. A monkey would go to the coconut and after mature deliberation, stick one of its paws in and seize the bait.

Being greedy by nature, the monkey could not persuade himself to turn the tidbit loose, and yet his paw, made larger by grasping the food, would not come back through the small hole. So the monkey would squeal outrageously and hold the morsel, while his captor walked up and seized him in a West End home because of the monkey's using its sharp teeth.

Olive caught one monkey thus and now he is the girls' mascot, although they were forced to move from rooms they had taken in a West End home because of the monkey's capers. "Jocko," they call the monkey, not for any particular reason except they could think of no better name for him and because that is what monkeys usually are called.

The climax of "Jocko's" monkey-shines in the West End home came one evening when their landlord, returning home in a rather hesitant manner at midnight, switched on the hall light and beheld the monkey hanging by his tail from the chandelier, grinning at him. The landlord was so startled he fell over a chair and awakened every one in the house. The next day Olive and Julia received orders to move, taking "Jocko" with them.

As a matter of expediency, however, when they were on the verge of being asked to move again because of the monkey, they sent him to a friend in St. Louis County, who is keeping their mascot for them. They plan taking "Jocko" with them on their next jaunt. He is of a stout species and stands scarcely more than eight inches high.

"We think getting out and seeing the world is one of the best things a girl can do—that is, unless her folks have the means to send her to college and then send her traveling," Julia said. "At least, we have certainly learned many things we could never know otherwise."

Never Any Annoyances.
"I guess there are lots of folks who would be scandalized to think of two girls going out on a long hike alone, but we have never gotten into any difficult situations."

"We have come in contact with people of all stations and walks of life, on the highway and in the cities, but not once has one of them been otherwise than very courteous and considerate. I don't know what we'd do if any one would try to harm us when we are out alone, for we don't even carry a pocket knife for protection."

Both young women said the most pleasant part of their journey was the trip to the Philippines. Olive shipped as a stewardess and Julia worked behind the magazine and candy counter.

"The best part of it was that not only did we get just as good a trip out of it as the 'mucky-mucks' who were spending money for it, but we made $200 on the cruise," Olive remarked. "On our cruise to Australia we expect to make at least $1000 clear, including our tips and wages and then, when we return, perhaps we'll buy some kind of little business and settle down."

"But no matter how much of a business I might be able to build up when I feel like hiking out I think I'll go, for it doesn't take very long for the call of the road to get in your blood—and I believe it's in mine."

WATCHING THE CLOCK FOR HOUR OF DEATH

Now They're Really to Tell Us Just About What Time We'll Make an Exit From This Pleasant World.

By WINFRED BLACK

WHEN do you expect to die? How do you expect to die? And where do you expect to die?

The National League of Nursing Education announces that the first questions are not so very hard to answer—not if you know how.

Your father's health, the age at which your mother died, what your grandfather did for a living—how many children you have—these are the questions that will give you the answer.

So the league says. How interesting!

But somehow I don't believe I'm going to go to the sessions of the league and learn the answer to all these questions.

I don't believe I want to know when I'm going to die or how I'm going to die, or what it is that's going to take me out of this world. I'm afraid I'd lose interest in the way the dew falls on that red rose by the wall there. I'm afraid I wouldn't hear that funny little bird who keeps trying to tell me something every time he perches in the bush beside the window.

I don't believe I'd care much about any of the new books, or any of the new plays—you know how it is when you're going—let's say—to Chicago.

You're shopping for the journey, you're packing your trunk, you're looking at your suit case and wishing it was bigger or smaller or it's in mine."

So the league says. How interesting!

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

"OLD LETTERS."

WHEN you burn old faded letters have you ever paused to think what the eager flames are leaving, though they seem dim page and ink? Have you thought of hope's bright treasure that lies hidden in a line? Have you glimpsed the love and longing which through every word may shine? These, the visions bright as April, tender counsel, fond desire shall not wholly fade and vanish with the fading of the fire. Flames may flicker, lapping swiftly over every blackened sheet, till the message dims forever in the ashes at your feet, but the fire can never fasten cruel fingers, hot and bright, on the love that made these letters scrolls of wonder and delight. When you burn dim, yellowed letters, let this thought your loss assuage: Flames can never mar the message traced by love across each page.

and isn't it a good way to meet the great mystery—after all?

What do you know, what do I know about that other life that is waiting for us somewhere some day?

Why not live this life to the very full, eat when we're hungry, drink when we're thirsty, rest when we are tired, love those who love us, make friends and enjoy them, make mistakes and correct them, fall down and get up again, be hurt and be comforted, suffer and rejoice—let's a full cup, a brimming cup held out to us by Life, let's drink it to the very last drop, and leave the time and the place of death—to the time and place when it arrives.

That's what I say, don't you?

Home and your favorite kind of cookies, home and the books you liked in the library, home and the long summer evenings with the smell of the new-mown hay coming up from the long Meadows just below the house. Home and the same old robin building a nest in the same old honeysuckle on the side porch.

All you'd seen and done and learned in the past year—what did it amount to now?—were going home!

That's the way people feel as they grow older, it seems to me

So the league says. How interesting!

But somehow I don't believe I'm going to go to the sessions of the league and learn the answer to all these questions.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

When Blue Was White

Because you've never seen a thing say not it cannot be. Nor yet be positive that you are sure of what you see.

WINSOME Bluebird and Mrs. Winsome had arrived early this spring and had promptly gone to housekeeping over in the Old Orchard. There they had successfully raised a family and then had moved up to a house in Farmer Brown's dooryard. Farmer Brown's boy had kept sharp watch to see that they never were disturbed, for he is very fond of Winsome Bluebird. He knew without looking when there were eggs. He knew because Mrs. Winsome came out of that little house only for exercise and to eat.

Now Farmer Brown's boy had been so busy when the first Bluebirds were hatched that they had grown up before he realized how fast they were growing. He had wanted to hand them, but they had left the nest before he realized that it was time for them to leave. So he kept a sharp watch of the house in the dooryard, for he intended to hand Winsome's second family.

This house was on an iron pole. Black Pussy couldn't climb it. Chatterer the Red Squirrel couldn't climb it. Mr. Black Snake couldn't climb it. The Bluebird family was quite safe from disturbance.

In time the eggs hatched, as eggs have a way of doing. Then Winsome and Mrs. Winsome were two very busy people as they hunted for the hungry little mouths inside that house. From early morning until shadow time they hunted food, for growing bird babies are the hungriest little people in the whole world. A bird baby will eat its own weight in food in a day. You see, Old Mother Nature has to do a very great deal to a bird baby in a very short time. There are all those feathers to grow, for most birds start without any feathers. So it keeps Mother and Father very busy, very busy indeed, until the babies are able to take care of themselves.

Everytime that Farmer Brown's boy passed that little house he would look up at the little round doorway in the hope of seeing one of the babies, and at last he did. At first he couldn't see very well, but he waited patiently, and presently a little head was poked out of the little round doorway. Almost right away this one was pushed aside and another little head appeared.

"I must keep a watch on you, little folk," said Farmer Brown's boy.

FROM L. JOHNSON used to be a "dead one." And that was a misnomer, too, when utility franchises were a thing of the past. A franchise is an irrevocable agreement between a franchisor and a franchisee, which is a franchisee's right to use the franchisor's name and engage in business without direct competition. When a city granted a franchise, it was a franchisee's right to use the franchisor's name and engage in business without direct competition. They are mere delusions. This covers the whole field of service requirements, rates, and the latter involve matters of valuation and ratemaking. For example, if the United States of St. Louis should obtain a franchise from the city, which it was agreed that $100,000 should be taken as the value of the property for rating purposes and that the company should receive six per cent on its money and no more, provisions would be wholly enforceable as against the company. It next year it should not be satisfied with the valuation and rate of return, either or both, it could go to the courts.

FRANCHISE OR PERMIT?

By DELOS F. WILCOX, Ph. D. of Grand Rapids, Mich.

(Written for the Post-Dispatch)

JOHN L. JOHNSON used to say: "The only good franchise is a bad one." And that was before the days of public service commissions; too, when utility contracts were still supposed to be largely enforceable. Johnson had long had experience in the street railway game, and on both sides of it, but when he made this remark, undoubtedly, he was speaking from the public point of view. A franchise is an irrevocable grant, running in perpetuity or for a specified term of years. It gives the grantees special rights, by virtue of which they are authorized to put their fixtures in the public streets and engage in public service for profit, generally without direct competition. In the old days, it was supposed that when a city granted a franchise it could incorporate in the grant terms and conditions with respect to compensation, rates and service which the city would be guaranteed an adequate share in the profits of the enterprise, and the consuming public would be guaranteed good service at reasonable cost.

Since the enactment of public utility laws and the establishment of state public service commissions in Missouri and elsewhere, the whole broad subject of rates and service has been removed from the purview of the municipal authorities so far as franchise granting is concerned. The city may negotiate terms and conditions and they may be written into the franchise and the company may accept them, but they are not worth the paper they are written on as enforceable obligations. They are mere delusive promises. This covers the whole field of service requirements and rates, and the latter involve the matter of valuation and rate of return for rate making purposes.

For example, if the United Railways of St. Louis should obtain a new franchise from the city in which it was agreed that $60,000,000 should be taken as the value of the property for rate fixing purposes and that the company should receive six per cent on its money and no more, these provisions would be wholly unenforceable as against the company. At next year it should conclude that to be satisfied with the specified valuation and rate of return, either or both, it could go before the State Commission and demand that valuation and rate of return be revised, and if the commission refused to upset the franchise provisions, or sought to establish a valuation or rate of return that was unsatisfactory to the company, the latter could hop to the Federal courts and have the issues decided under the Federal laws without reference to the terms of the franchise or to the wishes of the city or to the will of the State Commission.

Control of Service Rests

With State Commissions.

In matters pertaining to service—routing of cars, headway, speed, ventilation, heating, safety devices, crowding, extension of tracks, heating content of gas, pressure, service connections, extensions, meter deposits, shutting off service, breakdown service in electric lighting and power, lamp renewals, automatic or manual telephone service, handling of complaints, and a thousand and one things that affect the comfort and convenience of the public in connection with the use of utility services—what the franchise may say directly, or even indirectly in establishing methods for determining these problems as they arise, is all futile. The control of these things rests with the State Commission, and in some extreme cases, where service requirements are alleged to effect confiscation, the ultimate decision here, also, rests with the Federal courts.

While private ownership continues the public interest centers in service and rates, both of which lie beyond the power of the city to control by franchise provisions. In short, in the present state of the law the city's effective interest in public utilities under private operation is practically limited to three things:

1. Shall the utilities be allowed to operate at all? Imperative public need answers this question.

2. What share of the revenues or profits derived from the exploitation of the business shall the city as a municipal corporation exact as the price of a franchise? In some cases this question is answered by state laws which fix the utility's taxes; and in any event, the city knows that by laying burdens upon the utility such as paving and sprinkling obligations, gross earnings tax, street widenings, bridge contributions, etc., it is not taking anything from the utility, but merely adding to the cost of service which, under state regulations, will be reflected in the rates charged to consumers. The part left for the city to play in this field is the selfish one of the burden-layer or tax-gatherer, not that of the protector or guarantor of the rights of its citizens. In other words, it can share in exploitation, but can do nothing affirmative or constructive to insure to its people the amount and quality of service required.

3. Upon what terms may the privately-owned utility be ousted by municipal ownership? The general laws of the state permitting, the city can put into a franchise provisions which, if accepted, will bind the company to sell its property, upon specified terms. But if the city should attempt to adopt the policy of requiring the utility to pay for itself out of earnings, the state commission or the courts might step in, upon complaint, and nullify the scheme on the theory that paying for the property except as it is consumed in service is no part of the cost to be covered by the rates.

Two Important Points

In the Theory of the Law.

Two points are of primary importance in the theory of the law. One is that the regulation

"Who's Who" of Author

FOR more than 25 years Delos F. Wilcox of Grand Rapids, Mich., has been recognized as an authority in public utility problems. He has appeared as an advocate of the public interest in many of the large cities of the country, usually as an expert witness before courts and Public Service commissions in valuation and rate cases.

He was one of the earliest advocates of municipal ownership and operation of public utilities, asserting that his study of the evils from which the public suffered at the hands of utilities led him inevitably to the conclusion that no cure but complete control of all utilities by the municipalities would suffice.

He at present is engaged by the city of San Antonio, Tex., to defend the city against the demand of the street railways there for a higher fare. His revision of the recognized textbook, Whittier's "Valuation of Public Service Corporations," will be published this autumn. He has written voluminously upon public utilities—books, magazine articles and brochures.

DELOS F. WILCOX.

of rates and service comes within the scope of the police power, and the police power is a continuing power not to be curtailed by contract except in certain cases and for limited periods by specific acts or under specific authority of the supreme Legislature. Hence rates and service cannot ordinarily be controlled by contract or franchise specifications. The other point is that the city is the mere creature—the minor child—of the Legislature, and that any reservation of rights which the city may include in a franchise for its own benefit and protection, may be surrendered at will by the superior Legislature or its agent, the Public Service Commission, without the city's consent. The city, like a child that has lost its pony, can boo-hoo, and that is all.

It is true that these legal conditions vary to some extent in different states by reason of constitutional provisions for municipal home rule which in some cases have been effective in changing the status of the cities in relation to the Legislature, but such provisions are strictly construed against the independence of the municipalities, and the general trend of the law is as above stated. This is pre-eminently true in Missouri, as I understand the decisions.

Under such circumstances, why should St. Louis grant any renewal franchises? If it is not quite ready to undertake municipal ownership of the street railways, or gas, or electricity, why not let the matter ride? Why not restrict its future grants to revocable permits, or to occupation of the streets on sufferance?

Lapse of Franchise Doesn't

Endanger Rights of Utility.

The utilities are already in the streets. The United States Supreme Court held in the last Denver Union Water case that as long as a company is permitted or required to continue to render public service, it cannot be deprived of the right to charge remunerative rates for its service, regardless of the expiration of its franchise. For rate purposes its property cannot be valued as junk just because the city has the legal right, at pleasure, to order the utility out of the streets. On the other hand, the rate of return to the company cannot be increased because the city is in a position to destroy the value of the property by stopping its operation at will.

There is a lot of moonshine about the city's theoretical legal rights. A man with a sharp knife can cut off his nose, if he wants to, but the risk that he will do so is not great. In Massachusetts franchises are terminable permits, without even the condition that the grantees will be reimbursed for their investment in physical property in case of termination. The public service corporations there have been getting along under these conditions for many years without going into the Federal courts for protection.

In Wisconsin and Indiana, term franchises have been transformed into indeterminate permits, subject to the condition that if the city wants to terminate a permit, it will have to buy the property or the utility at a price to be fixed by the State Commission. And under such circumstances, of course, the city has no legal protection against the enormities of reproduction.

How Detroit Was Able to Start Its Municipal System.

In Detroit, after the principal street railway franchises expired, the city permitted the Detroit United Railway to build extensions under "day-to-day" agreements, by which the city was authorized to take over these extensions at any time at their actual cost less depreciation. In that way Mayor Couzens was enabled to start his municipal system without the duplication of facilities, and when to this was added the fact that for many years the company had been operating a number of its principal lines on sufferance, Couzens was able finally to reach a settlement with the Detroit United Railways, which the people of Detroit could approve.

Nowadays, when franchises expire nothing much happens. The service doesn't stop. The continuing needs of the public guarantee that. Revenues do not diminish. The public continues to pay for the service it gets. If the bonds outstanding are excessive, it may be necessary to reorganize when they fall due. But a conservatively capitalized company is not subjected to serious danger by the expiration of a franchise. Of course, an elaborate new franchise for a period of 25 or 30 years, giving the company irrevocable rights, and substantially guaranteeing, so far as the city has power to do so, the capitalization and earning power of the company, will greatly aid promoters in effecting a reorganization of a bankrupt property at large profit to themselves. But from the public point of view, when the utility is functioning satisfactorily there is no particular reason for fixing up its franchises for the purpose of enabling someone to make a big haul out of the reorganization of its financial structure.

While the law of valuation continues in its present confused and unsatisfactory state, the city cannot afford to divest itself of its power to bargain with the utility on the matter of purchase price. This is well illustrated by the Denver Tramway case. There Circuit Judge Robert E. Lewis

Once Given It Cannot Be Revoked and Binds
City But Not CompanySince State Commissioners Were Established,
Municipalities Have Lost Control of Public Service Corporations Holding Franchises.

fixed the value of the property for rate-making purposes at $23,514,769, an amount largely in excess of all the company's funded and unfunded obligations. Besides this, he valued the company's franchises at $2,000,000. This happened in December, 1924, after the company had been in receiver's hands for four years and had been charging rates of fare fixed by the Court.

Rate Making Value and Actual Value Different.

The following year Judge Lewis authorized and approved the sale of the property at foreclosure at a price which, including the underlying bonds and other preferred obligations assumed by the new company, amounted to about $9,400,000. Some of the general creditors, who were offered preferred stock for their claims, felt peeved and appealed to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals on the ground that if the property was worth so much for rate-making purposes, the old company could not have been insolvent, and their just claims against it should have been paid in cash. But the Circuit Court, sitting at St. Paul, with Judges Booth, Phillips and Faris (St. Louis District Judge) on the bench, said through Judge Faris that rate-making value and actual value are quite different things, and said that in this case the record induced the inference that the rate-making value of the Denver property as fixed by Judge Lewis was nearly double its actual value.

And so it is made clear that under our present system of rate regulation and private ownership, through the weight given to reproduction cost, theoretical overheads, depreciation by inspection, going value, etc., the rate base may be twice as high as the actual value of the property for purchase and sale.

The city cannot afford the risk of making a permit terminable only upon payment of a purchase price which the State Commission, or some court not impressed with Judge Faris' reasoning, might fix on a basis similar to that used in determining rate-making value. A permit for continued utility operation should either be subject to revocation at will by the municipality, without any obligation to purchase the property, or else with the obligation to pay for it only the honest and prudent investment in it, less the actual depreciation that may have taken place through age, use, decay, obsolescence and other causes.

City Should Guard Against Playing Game of Organizers.

Of course, a city ought not to drive "hard bargains" with public utilities where necessary public service is involved. The laborer is worthy of his hire. But that is no reason for playing the game of the utility organizers and utility wreckers, who are not at all interested in the actual rendering of adequate public service, but only in exploiting the public, milking the utilities, and carrying off millions for use in other speculations. In its franchise policy, regardless of the chaotic rulings of the courts with respect to rate regulation, the city should nail its colors to the mast, and stick for the actual and necessary cost of utility property and service, as the only possible basis upon which just rates can be fixed, and the development of public utilities as public servants freed from the destructive influence of exploitation and speculation.

A city's slogan should be: No more franchises on any terms; only day-to-day agreements, or permits terminable at will, with the proviso that if public necessity requires the continuation of the service, the city upon terminating the permit shall take over the physical property at the actual prudent cost less accrued depreciation. With new utilities, it is sometimes just to pay a bonus for the property, if it is taken over before it has been able to recoup itself for the operating losses normally incurred at the outset, but this does not apply to well-established utilities that have already run through one or more franchise cycles.

KEMAL BECOMES TURKISH DICTATOR

Fall Elections.

By the Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 1.—Mustapha Kemal Pasha is exercising a new authority given to him by the new constitution to name each man who may be a candidate for deputy at the fall elections and thereby virtually is making himself absolute dictator of Turkey. There will be no opposition party and the next Parliament will be in fact personally appointed by Kemal, or "The Commander," as the President is called. Kemal's recent coming to Europe after an absence of eight years and in the face of much opposition of his Cabinet is taken as his decision to assert himself. He had been for many months relatively inactive in Ankara.

One-Man Rule Defended.
This one-man rule, Kemal's friends contend, is needed for 10 years or more to guide the weak nation. Ultimately they believe, the people's liberty will be restored.

Kemal Pasha's powers as President give him the reputation of being the most autocratic of the world's republican chiefs. The opposition party was suppressed last year.

year, his headquarters were closed, some of its leaders hanged, exiled or imprisoned on charges of plotting the Pasha's assassination.

"His word is law," is frequently said of Kemal, but this fact, and full control of the sovereign assembly will turn this worshipful phrase into plain reality.

Party Awards Power.
Kemal Pasha's power to choose his own Parliament was given to him by the People's Republican party, of which he is honorary president. The Government denies this is intended "to clean house" of any possible opposition out of the assembly. It says that a party commission of 10 normally should select the candidates. Everyone, however, wished to be on this commission and none was willing to let the commission decide the fate.

It was announced Friday that Dr. Schurman had been awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Philosophy by the University of Heidelberg in recognition of his services in promoting friendly relations between the United States and Germany. The opposition party was suppressed last year.

CRUDE RUBBER SHORTAGE

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Consumption of raw rubber is increasing so much more rapidly than production that the world will face a shortage of crude rubber in three years, in the opinion of William O'Neill, president of the General Tire & Rubber Co., of Akron, O., who sailed early today on the Aquatania to study the rubber situation in England.

Because of the natural increase in the demand, manufacturers are agreed on this point, differing only as to when a shortage will be felt, he said. This year has witnessed a gain in the industry of approximately 15 per cent over 1926, he said, pointing out that the trade as a whole is using more crude rubber.

Measures taken to increase the yield, including new planting and discovery of the bud-grafting system, will have no effect on the situation for eight years, Mr. O'Neill said.

Cheap Rubber Is Held Far Off.
"Frank R. Henderson, president of the Rubber Exchange, was misunderstood when he recently referred to the bud-grafting system, through which it is entirely likely that production can be doubled, or even more than doubled," he said. "Some took his remarks to mean that cheaper rubber could be expected within a very short time, but they failed to take into con-

WHITE RUSSIANS ORDERED
TO LEAVE CONSTANTINOPLEExpulsion of 2200, Remnant of Gen.
Wrangel's Army, Becomes Effective Today.

By the Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 1.—The 2200 White Russians who have made their homes here for the last eight years have been served with an ultimatum to be out of Turkey by today. The order said to have been issued by the Governor of Constantinople in accordance with a law enacted by the Turkish Government last fall, was issued Saturday, giving the Russians only two days in which to decide where to go.

It had been understood that negotiations carried on through the League of Nations with Ankara recently would permit the Russians to remain another year. The Governor of Constantinople declared that Ankara did not inform him of the extension agreement and consequently the Russians must leave.

The White Russians mentioned were followers of Gen. Wrangel, the remnants of whose defeated army swept down into the Balkans after their defeat in 1920. Recent dispatches from Balkan countries indicated that Gen. Wrangel was showing some activity among his former followers, but that his plans for the immediate future were being kept secret and were known only to his closest advisers.

One report was to the effect that Wrangel was gathering his old forces in the Balkans with the intention of taking the field against the Chinese Communists.

And he sees no immediate prospect of increased tire prices. However, he does think tire prices will be higher next year, as he expects the price of crude rubber to advance.

VESUVIUS ERUPTS
AGAIN AND LAVA
THREATENS TOWNMolten Stream Wells Up
From "Valley of Hell," Bursts Restraining Wall and Menaces Terzigno.

By the Associated Press.
NAPLES, Italy, Aug. 1.—A stream of molten lava menaced the town of Terzigno this morning as the blazing fluid, following a new explosive outbreak within Mount Vesuvius, overflowed from the "Valley of Hell" into the ravines leading toward the bay of Naples. Resumption of the volcano's disquieting activity, fulfilling the worst fears of the members of the observatory staff, came after a lull of more than 24 hours. Beginning yesterday morning, the eruption progressed unceasingly until the early hours this morning when the lava, having filled the "Valley of Hell," rose above the dike erected to check its flow into the valley, and then began to run down the paths toward Terzigno.

Despite the fact that the movement of the lava stream was comparatively slow, a large part of the population of Terzigno and the neighboring region began to flee toward Naples at dawn.

Statement From Observatory.
Prof. Malladra, director of the observatory, last night said: "During the last 12 hours the activity greatly increased, notably in effusive phenomena. The hole which broke open July 29 at the base of the eruptive cone, and which on Saturday seemed to have fallen into inactivity, permitting the members of my staff to approach close enough to photograph it, at noon today (Sunday) suddenly began to spout flowing lava with great vigor, creating again the broad, quick stream of the first day of the present reawakening of the volcano.

"The flaming torrent, after withdrawing in the western part of the crater, moved, partly through subterranean channels, for a distance of a kilometer, joining many outlets of lava invading the north part of the crater, and causing the surface to rise rapidly. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon it reached the level of the crater, and at 4 began to flow into the 'Valley of Hell' along the same ravine through which the lava flowed last November.

"The explosive activity was also extremely violent, with the frequent hurling into the air of large quantities of fragments. The external sides of the large Vesuvian cone were covered abundantly with hot ashes and flaming fragments, a set of which were half an inch broad. Many fragments also have fallen as far away as the observatory and Funicular level, half way down the side of the mountain."

All Sightseers Barred.
Although Prof. Malladra and his staff spent another sleepless night at the crater, strict orders were issued forbidding all tourists and sightseeing parties to go up the side of the mountain. These orders were issued after flaming fragments began to reach the Remon Hotel, half-way point on the Funicular Railway line.

TESTS OF TAXICAB METERS
MADE BY CITY INSPECTORSSix Out of 50 Tried So Far Condemned for Registering Fare Distance Incorrectly.

Up and down Forest Park boulevard between Grand boulevard and Taylor avenue taxicabs have been running the past week with practiced eyes watching the meters record the bill. Inspectors of the City's Weights and Measures Bureau are giving the meters a semi-annual "once-over" to see that taxicab passengers get their money's worth in mileage.

Out of 50 taxicab meters tested through yesterday, six were condemned because they were registering incorrectly, chiefly to the loss of the passenger. Only cash by the more unsatisfactory meters have been inspected so far. When the operators of the large fleets of taxicabs send their cars to Forest Park boulevard, starting tomorrow, the inspectors look for fewer inaccuracies in registration of mileage and waiting charges.

SURPLUS OF $14,000,000
IN NEW YORK STATE TREASURYAmount Saved, Despite $29,809,871
Increase in Cost. Due to Commoditization, Gov. Smith Reports.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 1.—A free cash surplus of $14,000,000 is in the New York State Treasury according to the annual financial statement of Gov. Smith. The Governor called attention to the fact that since his last statement the Government has been reorganized, grouping the 200 agencies of the State into 18, and that because of the incomplete transition statistical comparisons were difficult.

The increase in the cost of Government in 1927 over 1926 he placed at $29,809,871.51. More than $25,000,000 of this increase was for highways and bridges, education and debt service.

RAIL SHARES PROMINENT IN NEW RISE

Carrier and Merchandise Groups Furnish Nearly One-Half of the Two Score New High Records of Session.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The "bull" movement in stock prices which has been under way for weeks, reached a new peak today when a broad buying movement developed as a result of a further change in the credit situation, generally regarded as the backbone of the current advance. Buying orders were distributed over a broad list but were most effective in the railroad and merchandise groups, which furnished nearly one-half of the two score new high records established during the session.

With the heavy month-end demands for funds largely taken care of, call money was again in plentiful supply, dropping from a nominal rate of 4 to 7 1/2 per cent. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged but a further easing in bankers' acceptances carried them to the lowest levels since the summer of 1925.

Recent buying of high grade stocks presumably has been influenced by the fact that current dividend yields are appreciably higher than interest rates on bank loans, making certain issues with good prospects attractive for investment purposes. The ease with which many stocks are bid up bears witness to a relatively small floating supply which, in turn, is accounted for by the large blocks of stocks taken out of the market by large and small investors, so-called "investor trusts" and European buyers.

Demands for Rails.
Although many of the June railroad earnings statements were disappointing, the demand for the railroad shares continued unabated. Atchafalaya, New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Railway, Union Pacific, "Nickel Plate," Great Northern, Preferred and Erie common all eclipsed their previous peak prices for the year, some of them reaching their highest levels in a decade or more.

G. M. at New Top.
General Motors touched a new top at 22 1/2, Hudson at 91 and Chrysler at 53 1/2, although all lost part of their gains on the close. Auto showed more signs of life. New measures were taken to curtail production in the automobile field. Transcontinental and developed unusual activity and developed unusual activity and developed unusual activity.

Merchandise and Mail Order Issues.
Merchandise and mail order issues were better. City Stores B. Kruger, May Department Stores, Montgomery Ward, Sears, Roebuck and American Stores, all showed new high ground. Other popular shares to break through their previous maximum prices were American Can, American Smelting, American Tobacco, Bald, Smelt, Brookline Union Gas, Dupont, General Electric, General Railway, Tuckers Roller Bearing and Union Carbide, the gains running as high as eight points.

Laclede Gas Breaks.
Laclede Gas broke 17 1/2, points to 25 1/2 and then rallied to 23 1/2. Greene Cananea Copper, which was strong last week, fell nearly five points and then rallied slightly. Foundation Co., Western B. White Motors and Youngstown Sheet & Tube also were heavy.

Nervous trading characterized the principal commodity markets.
Wheat prices closed slightly higher after an early period of selling based on fears of a bearish government report next week. Cotton closed one point lower but coffee, prices were firm. Sugar quotations showed a little change.

Light Exchange Trade.
Observance of the bank holiday in London resulted in comparative light foreign exchange trading. Demand sterling and French francs were practically unchanged at $4.85 1/2 and 237.17 cents, respectively.

LEAD, ZINC AND COPPER
Lead was strong at $8.50 per 100 lbs. and then rallied to $8.60. Zinc was strong at $15.00 and then rallied to $15.10. Copper was strong at $15.00 and then rallied to $15.10.

New York Sugar.
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The raw sugar market was quiet today and as no new reports were received, prices were unchanged. The market was quiet and as no new reports were received, prices were unchanged.

Two Captured by posse; Flight of 60 Others Prevented.

By the Associated Press.

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 1.—Fosses, led by bloodhounds, today are searching for 17 of 19 convicts, who escaped from a barracks at the Imperial State Prison Farm last night. Two of the fugitives were

TITLE FIGHT SET FOR SEPT. 15 AT SOLDIERS' FIELD

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The South Park Board today voted, four to one, to permit Tex Rickard to stage the Tunney-Dempsey heavyweight championship fight in Soldiers' Field, Sept. 15.

After the board voted its favor, Rickard declared that the fight would be staged in Soldier's Field on the date he named, or the next night in event of rain.

Edward J. Kelly, president of the board, asked Rickard if Chicago would get the fight in view of the board's action.

"I'll guarantee that," Rickard said. "It's all settled."

President Kelly said that the big business interests of Chicago had urged the board to grant the use of the field for the fight. These business men, he said, had assured him that the people would be in Chicago for the fight.

The New York promoter was accompanied by George Getz, millionaire coal operator, who will be associated with Rickard in the fight.

With Rickard as a promoter, money will be made. Under the law a promoter must be a resident of Illinois. His name, however, was not on the list of names.

Getz said he would not receive a penny out of the promotion and that neither himself nor members of his family would accept the fight.

Getz revealed that Chicago's leading financiers were behind the move to bring the fight to Chicago. Among them were George A. Berens, bank president; Rufus A. Hoff, president of the Chicago Telephone Co.; William Wiegler, the gum magnate; John Herlihy, president of the Yellow Cab Co.; James Simpson, president of Marshall Field & Co.

Dempsey to Start Training. Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 1.—Jack Dempsey will begin training today for his return bout with Gene Tunney, "somewhere in the desert" for the world's heavyweight title.

Daily workout, and light gymnasium workouts alternated with golf will be Dempsey's program for the present, the former champion announced. He will leave for the scene of the fight about five weeks before the date of the battle.

LEAGUE ANNUAL BABE RUTH ALL-AMERICA TEAM CONTEST BEGINS TODAY

Prizes and Trophies For Fans Who Select Correct Combination

Post-Dispatch Offers $100, $50 and $25 for Naming Team That Most Nearly Approximates Babe's Selection and Best Explanatory Letter.

Rules of Babe Ruth Contest

The contest opens today and will close at midnight Aug. 31. The object of the contest is to select an all-star team for the National and American leagues which will most closely agree with one which Babe Ruth will select, aided by a committee of leading baseball writers in the major league cities.

Only ONE team may be submitted by each reader. It must consist of 10 players (two pitchers and eight men for the other positions).

Take your time in making your pick. No corrections may be made once an entry is sent in.

A short explanation of the reasons for your choice MUST accompany your entry. The reader whose team is the same or nearest Babe Ruth's selection and is accompanied by the best letter giving reasons for the choice will be declared the winner. The letter must not exceed 200 words.

A player may be placed in a position other than his regular one, providing he has occupied the alternate position in one or more games of the current season.

Players must be selected on the basis of their playing during the 1927 season only. Do not take into consideration records made in previous seasons.

Babe Ruth is not eligible. He will not pick himself for his team.

Trophies of $100, $50 and $25 will be awarded first, second and third places respectively. The winner of the capital trophy will also receive a ball and bat autographed by Babe Ruth.

Today the Post-Dispatch once more opens its Babe Ruth All-America team competition and invites its readers to send in their ideas of what constitutes the strongest combination of major league players that could be gathered together under one banner. The contest will close Aug. 31.

A trophy of $100 will be awarded to the winning contestant, with $50 and $25 to second and third places, respectively.

The most important thing for any contestant is a thorough reading of the few rules and a correct understanding of them. Disregard of one rule will nullify an entire entry.

They are easy to understand. Such regulations as only one team being allowed to each contestant, Babe Ruth's ineligibility, for choice and the number of men to be chosen (10) are too plain to require explanation.

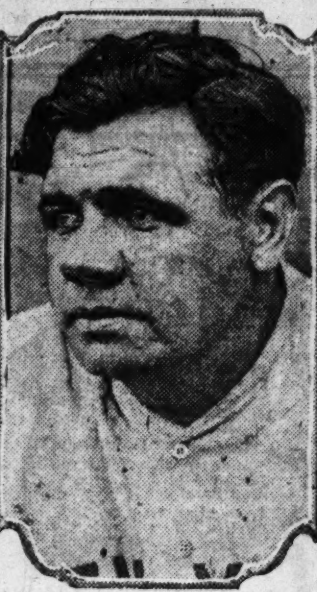

Attention is called, however, to the rule which says that the players must be selected on the strength of their work during the current season. It is important and has been overlooked by some in past years. Work during 1927 is the only criterion of selection. Brilliant players in 1926, 1925, 1924 or any other season gone by means nothing whatever to this year's contest.

It is understood also that a player cannot be placed in a position where he has never worked. Cy Williams, for instance, cannot be assigned to third base merely because the contestant has a vacancy there, and admits the outfielder's home run hitting.

However, if a player has played in a position other than his regular one in at least one game in 1927 he is eligible for either position. Thus Lazzeri of the Yankees might be chosen for either second base or shortstop, because he has played in both places, although his regular job is at second base.

Don't forget the explanation which must accompany each selection, stating why you made such a choice. This is a necessary part of each entry.

New York Women's Swimming Association Wins Every Event on National Program.

MASSAQUA, N. Y., Aug. 1.—Records in all the swimming fixtures were shattered during the four-day National A. A. U. Senior Aquatic championships for women, which closed here yesterday. Members of the Women's Swimming Association of New York won every event held and scored 86 of the 99 points.

SUNSETS ADVANCE TO SECOND PLACE IN HORSESHOE LEAGUE

The Sunset Parks by winning 12 straight form the India team yesterday in the weekly round of the Municipal Horseshoe League at Fairground Park, moved into second place in the league standing. In the other games, the Klemmes won two out of four games from the Flints and took four out of five from Liberty Bell. Angelica won nine out of 16 games from the Briggs-Nash, and the Granite City U. TOO TRUE.
Self confidence is a grand and glorious feeling. But if expressed in actions instead of words one doesn't look so foolish in case of accidents.

After telling the world what he was going to do to Jack Dempsey, Jack Sharkey took one on the chin and passed out of the picture for the nonce. It's getting so you can't believe anybody.

Phil Ball is going to fly from San Diego to St. Louis. We're glad to hear that somebody connected with the Browns is going somewhere.

HOW COME?
In speaking of great pitchers recently John McGraw mentioned Matty, Rube, Waddell, Johnson, Rucker, Marquard and Jess. And the "Master Mind" didn't give old Cy Young a tumble. Still, there are many who have an inkling of their Bermudas who think that the old Tuscarawas rail splitter knew every crook and cranny of the pitcher's box and was fairly intimate with all the territory between that sector and the home plate. At any rate, if memory serves old Denton Tatum Young has won more ball games than any pitcher dead or alive. And winning games, if we understand the matter correctly, is what counts most in baseball.

WOODBURY AVERAGES 76 MILES AN HOUR IN MOTOR-CYCLE CONTEST

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 1.—Cliff Woodbury of Chicago, driving a Boyle valve special, won the 100-mile motor city sweepstakes race at the Michigan State Fair Grounds here, Sunday, in 78 minutes 56.1 seconds. The 50-mile race was won by Dutch Bauman of Indianapolis, driving a Fronty Ford special, in 39.52 minutes.

Leon Dury, French racer from Los Angeles, was second in the century race and Wilbur Shaw of Detroit was third. George Souders, winner of the 1927 Indianapolis classic was fourth. Frank Lockhart, winner of the 1926 race at Indianapolis, was forced out of the 100-mile grind Sunday by a broken throttle early in the race.

Woodbury's average speed for the 100 miles was 76.010 miles per hour and Bauman's average was 72.22 miles per hour. The race were sanctioned by the A. A. A.

Special to the Post-Dispatch ELLINGTON, Mo., Aug. 1.—One of the best pitching feats ever turned in on a local mound was viewed here yesterday, when Butte, twirler for the State Hose team of Farmington, pitched a hit, no-run, no-man-reach game against Ellington.

Burnette struck out 14 batters. In the ninth inning fanned three batters, two of whom were pinch hitters. Not one was knocked to the outfield during the nine innings.

The State Hospital team won game 2, to 0.

REPORTS that Ban Johnson would throw his hat in the ring and start a third league can be discounted. Ban Johnson's best friend, the one man who fought for him to the last—Phil Ball—declares Ban has no intention of doing anything militantly in baseball, least of all taking up the cudgels in a fight against organized baseball.

Mr. Johnson is much improved in health but not well enough to enter the lists in a free-for-all battle again. He is still holding down the duties of the American League president and is still at his office, daily.

His term will end before next November, at which time Ban will definitely step down.

In passing he surely heaped costs of fire on some of the mercenaries who operate American League clubs, by refusing to accept the $320,000 due him on the remainder of his contract.

Ban's Successor.

WHO will take Johnson's place is the big question. At one time it appeared that E. S. Barnard, president of the Cleveland club, although owner of only one share of stock in that organization, would be chosen. That is still possible, although other names have been mentioned since. One of these is Phil Ball, president of the Browns.

Ball would be a proper disciplinarian. Also he stands for the sport end of the game as against the money-making element that has been given it "Europe."

But he is hopelessly out of tune with Commissioner Landis, not to mention some of the other club owners of the league. Ball would surely back up his empire with shot and shell and hold out to the last ditch for the ideals and high principles of the game.

A disciplinarian is wanted for the job and Barnard apparently hasn't met all the requirements as yet.

"I got the idea from Florenz Ziegfeld"

Behind the scenes at the Ziegfeld Theatre Gladys Glad is remarking to Flo Kennedy between acts of the Follies.

Florenz Ziegfeld, famous theatrical producer, writes:

"As the producer of 'The Ziegfeld Follies' I know full well how important it is for my stars to have clear voices at all times. Several years ago, when I first began to smoke Lucky Strikes, I noticed that my voice remained untroubled after a most strenuous time directing rehearsals. I passed this information on to my stars and now we are all agreed: Lucky Strike is a delightful smoke and most assuredly protects the voice, eliminating any coughing, which often interrupts a perfect performance."

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

Two Riders Hurt In City Title Bicycle Races

Suffer Abrasions in Spill at Fairground—Nelson Wins Senior Event.

Edward Hagen, 17, of Belleville, and Elburn Willman, 15, of Ferguson, participants in the city championship bicycle races at Fairground Park yesterday, were injured in a spill which occurred on the north drive of the park. They were taken to the city hospital for treatment and later sent to their homes.

Hagen was slightly ahead of Willman, according to spectators when his bicycle struck a small obstruction. He crashed against a lamp post. Willman was too close to overtake Hagen and he pitched over his handle bars onto the fallen cyclist.

Hospital attaches reported that both Hagen and Willman suffered abrasions of the legs and arms. Chester Nelson won the city championship in the senior division, scoring 13 points. The runner-up, O. Bechtel, had 6 points. L. Memphis and George John Boucault were tied for third with 2 points. Nelson won first in the one-mile open, the 10-mile endurance and was second in the third-of-a-mile sprint.

Henry Dunn won the junior class championship. He took first, in the one-quarter, one-half and one-mile events and second place in the two-mile, for a total score of 18 points. Harold Bassel was second with 12 points, and Orville Sturholt was third with 5.

Winners of all events and Hugh Brown and Lawrence Murphy in the senior division qualified for the State championship meet to be held at the Fairground Park Aug. 14.
